BRIGITTE PRINZIVALLI-ROLFE, MD, MPH

BOARD-CERTIFIED NEUROLOGIST

Dr. Rolfe is a board-certified neurologist with particular interests in teleneurology and movement disorders. A recipient of the prestigious Frank H. Buck Scholarship, she earned her medical degree at Tulane University School of Medicine and completed her neurology residency at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. Her medical subspecialty training continued as a Movement Disorders Fellow at the University of Southern California (USC). Thereafter, she joined Los Rancho Los Amigos National Rehabilitation Center where she was instrumental in expanding their movement disorder services. Dr. Rolfe was only 1 of 2 neurologists to hold dedicated movement disorder clinics serving the entire Department of Health Services of Los Angeles, which cares for over 700,000 patients. Simultaneously, she worked as a teleneurologist for one of the largest U.S. teleneurology companies, SOC Telemed, now known as Access Telecare. Within the Access Telecare group, she is a consultant for neurological emergencies at well over 100 hospitals in 24 states. Recently, she has joined Huntington's Disease Genetics as a neurological consultant. Her approach is comprehensive and compassionate and greatly honors the trust given to her by her patients and colleagues.

Outside of work, Dr. Rolfe enjoys cooking, painting, and yoga but especially loves spending time with her husband and four children. She believes in the importance of a balanced lifestyle of mental and physical fitness as well as love and family. She hopes that her care will limit morbidity such that her patients may optimize the role of health in achieving their own personal life balance.
